To whom it may concern,

We are pleased to invite you to participate in the

EQUI-ED Seminar to be held between May 27 and 31, 2013, at the University of Barcelona (Spain).

The second EQUI-ED Seminar is an official activity of the European/Tempus project Equal Access for all: Strengthening the Social Dimension for a Stronger European Higher Education Area (EQUI-ED). The EQUI-ED Project is coordinated by the University of Niš, in Serbia, and tackles the problems of diversification of the body of students entering and completing higher education. The project particularly studies the inclusion of students from vulnerable groups into higher education.

The sessions will include the presentation of affirmative action policies at an international level, initiatives within the Spanish system of higher education, and specific services and programmes implemented to support and provide assistance to students from vulnerable groups.
